

DEXA SCAN at DMXI

DMXI offers bone density exams on a new, highest quality full body scanner. During your bone density test you will have your spine and hips scanned. Total body fat composition can also be obtained providing you with lean body mass and fat percentages.

Many of these exams can be done on a walk in basis but it is always best to call ahead.

Total body fat composition can also be obtained providing you with lean body mass and fat percentages. Please note most insurance companies do not cover total body fat composition scans. You may pay for it separately.
